Published in partnership with:

voltimum

The industry's leading magazine

ECAtoday provides fresh and engaging content, keeping readers informed of technological and commercial developments, as well as business advice and industry updates.

The magazine is published by ECA, the UK's leading trade association for businesses involved in electrotechnical and engineering services. ECA Members undertake a range of design, installation, inspection, testing, maintenance and monitoring work across the UK (excluding Scotland).

ECAtoday is packed with hot topics from across the electrotechnical and engineering services industry, offering a range of features, helpful insights, and other key information to help readers keep up-to-speed with developments.

Contributors include ECA experts from all our essential business support areas as well as highly regarded business leaders and industry journalists.

Voltimum is the publishing partner and media sales agent for ECAtoday. Voltimum operates a leading B2B site for electrotechnical professionals.
